Reflection/Discussion Questions:

What are the relationships in your life that you find yourself often in conflict? How can you begin to bring peace to that relationship(s)?

What are the relationships in your life that you need to grant forgiveness?

What are the relationships in your life that you need to ask forgiveness?

In order to pursue and maintain unity, how can you make loving confrontation and forgiveness a normal part of your relationships (i.e. within your family, your marriage, with co-workers, within the church, etc.)
